

August 2nd, 2019 | MCCCUC Renovation and Construction Update

It's amazing to see what just one week's worth of work looks like here at 715 N. Telegraph! If you take a drive by our office, you'll see a brand-new roof that covers all of our currently occupied space and almost all of the expansion.

New Roof

Office in the Works

First Completely Updated Office

There's a lot of progress happening inside the branch as well, with office space coming together in the expansion and the official first completely updated office in the original footprint. We can't wait for the next steps of the expansion and renovation project to be completed, as things are really starting to come together.