

July 23rd, 2019 | MCCCUC Renovation and Construction Update

If you haven't been by our Telegraph Office recently, you would probably be very surprised by the changes that have taken place over the last couple of weeks. The first real modifications to our lobby area have begun and we can now see the outline of what the future lobby space will look like.

Former Waiting Area

Expansion

Former Site of NAPA

The roof above our existing building is being replaced this week (providing a very interesting array of sounds to work through!) in preparation of the roof extension, which will include the expansion of our existing main office space. The base for our future North Building has been poured and we expect to see walls going up at that site within the next couple of weeks!
